

Online Learning with PMMS

What does our online learning offer you?

Our e-learning modules offer:

-  A 'right now approach': delivering learning straight to the user when they need it in bite sized manageable chunks which they can fit into their daily work schedule.
-  A 'wherever you need it' method of delivery: our e-learning and the platform on which it sits, will be accessible through all devices including mobile (smart phones and laptops).
-  Consistency: no trickling down of information. Everyone gets the same messages. Everywhere. Consistently.
-  Engaging on-line learning: appealing to all learning styles, by using a mix of media and a range of interactive tasks to help the user remember what they've learnt.
-  Supportive: our e-learning modules will let our users know how they are progressing and how well they are doing. It inspires confidence.

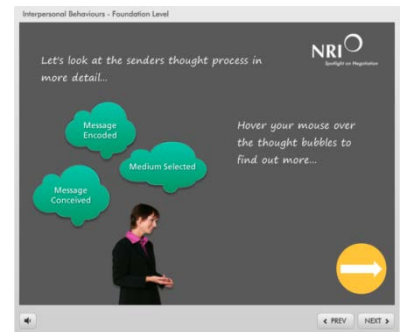

How can you access our online learning?

-  Our clients will be able to access their e-learning on any laptop, PC, smart-phone or tablet device as long as they have an internet or 3G or 4G connection.
-  All of our e-learning has been designed to utilise HTML5, which means that it is compatible with any operating system.
-  Our new e-learning platform will re-size suit the device that the user is accessing the platform and the e-learning from.

What does our online learning look like?

-  Solid Instructional design techniques have been used throughout our online learning and the online platform. For example, when you see our key colours and icons they always perform the same function.
-  Interactivity is key to all our e-learning modules, with the user pulling the information from each module rather than the information being pushed at the user.
-  The Learning section of our online platform will hold all of the e-learning, for NRI this will be structured across three levels, Foundation, Intermediate and Advanced

What does our Online platform offer?

-  Our online learning platform offers all of our online learning modules, a Resource section full of useful articles, an Assessment section where you can take our Negotiation Profile amongst other questionnaires, and a Community section where you can interact with a community of negotiators and swap best practise tips.
-  There are three levels of access to the online platform. For a full breakdown of the functionality of each level of access and the cost please do contact our e-learning team who can also set you up a free 7 day trial of our online platform.
